

The founder of Wycliffe Bible Translators, Cameron Townsend, had a vision -- to give every person in the world the Scriptures in his or her own language. The day before he died, he told a close friend, "I guess I'm not going to see the last language started." Wow, what commitment. In my way of thinking, he did see it...God gave him that vision, and he passed it on to us.

All during his lifetime, the number of Bible translation needs went up...more languages discovered, more communities without Scripture. That all changes in 1999...for the first time, the number of Bible translation needs started to fall...never happened before...and they continue to fall at an unprecedented pace...so that you, Dallas, and I are participating in the great acceleration of the pace of Bible translation every witnessed. This is our period of stewardship over the Bible translation process. Wow. Lord willing, we will see the last language started by the year 2025.

Many of you have walked with us for all of these 25 year...look behind us in the attached photo...do you see your image? Dallas and I do. We could not do this without your prayers, love, encouragement and financial support.

Thank you!

BOB and Dallas
