Take It Homework

We encourage you to not only do these exercises on your own, but also with a group of friends, co-workers, neighbors, small group or family members.

Okay, time for some honesty. It is Wednesday morning, and I'm still not sure what my sermon will be for Sunday. I have three messages bouncing around in my brain, and I still have not landed on which one God would have me preach. But, the Take It Homework must be printed, so I'd like to do some summary questions from our "Bible Battles" series. Plus, sometimes it's good to look back and ask yourself what you've learned over a stretch of time. So here goes:

- Spend some time in review. What "battles" have we covered? What are some things you learned from each story?

- What was your favorite "battle" and why?

- Do you relate to one of the "battles" for a particular reason or because of a specific circumstance in your own life?

- If we were add a "Great Bible Battles" Part 7 and call it "Your Name vs. _____," what would the blank be? In other words, share a battle that is in your life currently.

- Are you winning that battle or losing it? Why? How?

Finally, let's look at this another way. Last week Pastor Jesse made the statement, "If we don't advance against invaders, invaders will invade." These are battles that we should be fighting but aren't.

- Is there some place (something) in your life or in this world that you need to advance on? What battle(s) is God calling you to?
